

GRI-CDP Interoperability:

Environmental Disclosure in Practice

Give your team the skills to use both reporting instruments effectively

Why this eLearning course matters

As expectations grow around disclosing climate- and energy-related impacts, risks, and opportunities, organizations also have to navigate multiple reporting frameworks. This course helps reporting professionals understand how two leading environmental reporting instruments—the GRI Standards and CDP—complement each other and how to leverage their alignment.

What you will learn

- Describe the value of sustainability reporting and identify the key features of both the GRI Standards and CDP
- Explain the business case for aligning GRI and CDP and apply a step-by-step approach to streamline reporting across the two instruments
- Navigate the GRI–CDP mapping document
